A magazine

When the skit begins, Cameron, Drew and Tyler are watching TV.

Cameron: This is what you're so excited about? Extra channels on your TV? Big deal!

Drew: Oh, yeah? Well, look at this channel.

(Drew acts out switching the channel with his remote. All three guys move closer to the TV. Their eyes are wide open.)

Tyler: We better turn this off. I don't think we should be watching this. (He moves his hand to turn off the TV.)

Cameron: Tyler, are you crazy?

Drew: Yeah, Tyler, what's the big deal? Sex is natural. God made it, didn't He? Besides, maybe they're married.

Tyler: That doesn't mean we should be watching this!

Cameron: I don't know what the big deal is. That's nothing. My dad's got access to international porn. Now that's some crazy stuff!

Drew: Well, check this out. (Drew pulls out a magazine from under his chair, opens it and points to a picture.) What do you think about her?

Cameron: I've already seen that picture online. Speaking of which . . . let's get online, and I'll show you some real pictures.

Drew: We can't. My dad put a filter on our Internet.

Cameron: Filter? And you don't know how to get around it?

Tyler: (A bit stunned.) Since when are you guys so into pornography?

Cameron: Listen to you. You make it sound dirty.

Tyler: So, you think it's okay?

Drew: I already told you. It's just sex, and we're supposed to have sex. Even our parents do it.

Cameron: Gross! Don't even think about that!

Tyler: (Unsure.) Well, if sex is okay, then why do people make a big deal about it?

Cameron: Who knows? Who cares?

Tyler: (Turns to leave.) I'm getting something to eat.
